

I have been disappointed with radio service, selection, and quality for several years. When I found XM radio, I immediately signed up and gladly pay for satellite quality sound and several choices of stations that aren't available in my local area. Now we are able to get weather and traffic, which is extremely convenient since I don't have to resort to the inferior FM stations to receive it. I pay for XM radio and should not have programming dictated to me. Traditional radio is free, do with it what you like, but you don't pay for my satellite radio, so leave it alone!
